A detailed topographic map of the Newcastle Emlyn area in Ceredigion, Wales. The map shows the A475 road running horizontally across the middle, with a section between Adpar and B4571 marked as closed with a red dashed line and 'x' symbols. An alternative route is indicated by a blue dashed line that bypasses the closed section to the north. The map includes labels for 'Adpar', 'A475', 'B4571', and 'Blaen-Cil-Llech'. The River Teifi is visible winding through the landscape. The map also shows various fields, forests, and small settlements. A legend in the top left corner explains the symbols for road closure and alternative routes, and provides scale and date information.
